THURSDAY MORNING BIBLE CLASS OPENS YEAR'S WORK

The Thursday Morning Bible Class of Central Union Church opened its year's work most enthusiastically at its first session last Thursday. Eighty-seven out of the one hundred and two, who have thus far enrolled, were present to hear the opening lecture.

Tomorrow morning the hour will be devoted to a comparative study of the two versions of the Sermon on the Mount, the one in Matthew and the one in Luke. Mr. Ebersole has prepared a diagram showing how these came to be the two versions, which will be presented in mimeograph copy to every one present, and which will furnish the basis for the morning's discussion.

All who expect to attend the class this year should be present, as this lesson serves as an introduction to the year's work which is to follow. The committee wishes once more to invite all women who desire to get a clearer understanding of the Gospel to join the class. The chapel is spacious and cool and will easily accommodate all who come.

LOOKING FOR A DAYLIGHT LAMP

The counterfeiting of daylight long ago became a pressing problem to dry goods and department stores, which require an artificial light, when natural light fails, that will show fabrics in approximately the same colors as they really have in daylight. So the daylight store came into being years ago.

Recently reports have come from Europe about the invention there of a daylight lamp. Inventions that in less or larger degree reproduce daylight have been used for years, but customers have continued to take goods under examination to window or door in order to have the daylight. Possibly the reported European invention is an improvement on lamps already in existence and use that yield a white light not unlike that of the sun.

Such devices are not without value, but it is doubted whether they produce the best illumination for ordinary purposes. This is natural, for even daylight itself, unless duly tempered, is found to be trying for the human eye. An English and a German invention are claimed to render peculiar service in facilitating the correct matching of shades. But the search for the ideal lamp probably has not yet reached its goal. Nothing has yet surpassed, if equaled, the soft, mellow light that the German student lamp provides for general reading and working.—Spokesman Review.
